

Important Notice to Shareholders of
CBRE Clarion Global Real Estate Income Fund
Regarding 2016 Tax Year Information
(NYSE: IGR) CUSIP: 12504G100

December 31, 2016

Dear Shareholder:

We have important information about your 2016 tax forms for CBRE Clarion Global Real Estate Income Fund. Closed-end funds are required to provide 1099DIV and 1099B tax forms to shareholders by January 31 for the previous tax year. For reasons explained below, the CBRE Clarion Global Real Estate Income Fund will file a request with the Internal Revenue Service for a 30-day extension and will finalize the 2016 tax year information after the January 31st deadline. The fund plans to finalize the 2016 tax information within the time allotted by the 30-day extension and will make the information available to shareholders as well as the financial intermediaries responsible for providing information to shareholders who invest through a broker-dealer. In addition, a final summary of the 2016 tax year information will be provided on the fund's website www.cbreclarion.com. Shareholders should keep in mind that some broker-dealers may distribute information on fund distributions based on preliminary data and subsequently distribute revised reports after receiving the fund's final 2016 tax year information. Please consult your tax advisor as to how this may impact the filing of your 2016 tax return.

Shareholders that own shares indirectly through a broker-dealer should keep in mind that some broker-dealers may distribute information on fund distributions based on preliminary data and subsequently distribute revised reports after receiving the fund's final 2016 tax year information. Please contact your broker-dealer for information regarding the availability of your final 2016 tax year information.

The CBRE Clarion Global Real Estate Income Fund invests in real estate investment trusts ("REITs") and other real estate companies. REITs typically recharacterize a portion of the dividend paid during the year from ordinary income to capital gain and/or return of capital which may change the actual composition of the fund's distribution substantially subsequent to year-end. To the extent these changes occur, they may have the effect of reducing the net investment income component of the fund's distributions and, correspondingly, increasing the capital gains and/or return of capital components. The information regarding this recharacterization is generally not made available by the companies until late January; therefore as stated above, the fund must file for a 30-day extension to allow for the time necessary to finalize the 2016 tax year information.

If you have any questions specific to your tax situation, please consult with your tax advisor.

Sincerely,

CBRE Clarion Global Real Estate Income Fund